

Bulgaria base station communication system costs

Overview

The article discusses the costs associated with building and maintaining a communication base station, categorizing them into initial setup costs such as site acquisition, design and engineering, equipment procurement, construction and installation, permits and licensing, and testing and commissioning, and ongoing maintenance costs like rent or lease expenses, power consumption, equipment maintenance, software updates, security measures, and staff salaries. Why is Bulgaria's telecom market struggling?

Bulgaria's telecom market was for some years affected by the difficult macroeconomic climate, as well as by relatively high unemployment and a shrinking population. These factors continue to hobble investment in the sector, though revenue growth has returned since 2019.

What is the broadband market like in Bulgaria?

The broadband market in Bulgaria enjoys excellent cross-platform competition. The share of the market held by DSL has fallen steadily as a result of customers being migrated to fibre networks, particularly those operated by the incumbent telco Vivacom. By early 2021 about 65% of fixed-line broadband subscribers were on fibre infrastructure.

Is Vivacom in competition with A1 Bulgaria?

The mature mobile market has effective competition between A1 Bulgaria, Yettel (branded as Telenor Bulgaria before March 2022, the Telenor Group's local unit that had been sold to the PPF Group in August 2018), and the incumbent telco Vivacom. Competition intensified following the implementation of a streamlined mobile number portability process.

Does Bulgaria have 5G?

A1 Bulgaria and Vivacom both launched commercial 5G services in 2020, and by the end of 2022 about 70% of the population is expected to be covered by 5G. The broadband market in Bulgaria enjoys excellent cross-platform competition.
