Busan South Korea all-vanadium liquid flow battery

Overview

Is H2 a leading flow battery manufacturer in South Korea?

H2, Inc., an industry-leading flow battery manufacturer in South Korea has recently finalized securing $18 million in Series C funding. H2 Inc, a South Korean vanadium flow battery company, has begun construction of a factory with 330MWh annual manufacturing capacity.

Can a vanadium battery supply be securing a supply chain?

Vanadium is a common material worldwide, and it's even found in Korea. So securing a vanadium supply is not that difficult. Demand for lithium-ion batteries is soaring, especially with the strong EV demand, and the preexisting battery technologies inevitably come with supply chain risks since they use rare earth materials.

Could vanadium be a safer battery than lithium?

[PARK SANG-MOON] Vanadium, a hard, silvery metal element, has been on an upward demand curve with its price soaring 84 percent over the past 10 years — lifted partly by its potential as a battery candidate that is safer than lithium. And this is where Standard Energy, a Korean start-up, is betting big.

Does Korea have a lithium ion battery market?

Korea's domestic ESS market is close to non-existent at the current point mostly due to the previous lithium-ion battery fires, while the global market is growing very fast. So we are receiving a number of offers from companies in the United States and the European region, especially from power suppliers and EV charging service providers.
