Should you use a solar battery in Sydney?

Sydney's households are paying some of the highest power prices in the country, but there's a smarter way to take control. A solar battery lets you capture and store the energy your panels generate during the day, so you can use it at night, during peak tariffs, or whenever the grid goes down.

How much does a solar battery cost in Sydney?

A solar battery lets you capture and store the energy your panels generate during the day, so you can use it at night, during peak tariffs, or whenever the grid goes down. At Solar Battery Group, we help Sydney families unlock this independence with high-quality battery systems, starting from just $2,480 installed for 5kWh (rebates included).
