

Structure of double-glass modules

Overview

What is a double glass module?

The double glass module design offers not only much higher reliability and longer durability but also significant Balance of System cost savings by eliminating the aluminum frame of conventional modules and frame-grounding requirements. The application of double-glass modules covers multiple markets including utility, residential and commercial.

What is a double glass solar module?

In the ever-evolving world of photovoltaic technology, double glass solar modules are emerging as a game-changer. By encapsulating solar cells between two layers of glass, these modules offer unparalleled durability and efficiency. But what exactly sets them apart?

What is the technical structure of glass-glass PV modules?

The technical structure of glass-glass PV modules consists of several layered components arranged in sequence: Front Glass: Made of high-transmittance tempered glass, offering excellent mechanical strength, fire resistance, and weatherability. It serves as the primary protective layer.

Are double glass modules bifacial?

Dual-sided energy Capture: Many double glass modules are bifacial, allowing them to harness sunlight from both sides. This can lead to energy gains of up to 25%, especially when installed over reflective surfaces.
