

What are the container generator sets

Overview

Containerised generators are diesel or gas-powered generators that are enclosed in a weather-resistant, soundproof container. What is a containerised generator set?

The compact design of containerised generator sets makes them highly mobile and easy to transport. The entire power generation system, including the generator, fuel tank, and control systems, is integrated into a single container.

What is a generator container?

These containers are designed to protect the generator from external elements, ensuring secure operation in diverse environments. The generator sets within these containers can vary in size and capacity, making them suitable for a wide range of applications.

Can you put a generator in a container?

Generators can be put into containers. There are a number of benefits to doing this including: Easier transportation and installation making them ideal for temporary or remote applications. They are more secure as typically they are lockable which prevents unauthorised access. Do I need to service my power system?

Put simply, yes.

Why do generators need a container structure?

The robust container structure provides enhanced security and durability to the generator set. This protective enclosure safeguards the equipment from adverse weather conditions, dust, and other external factors.
